TEACHING CHILDREN ABOUT PERSONAL SAFETY: Empowering Them to Speak Up

Join us for this month's LCTF Coffee and Conversations workshop, where we delve into the crucial topic of teaching children about personal safety and empowering them to speak up. This interactive session will provide parents, educators, and caregivers with practical tools and strategies to help children understand their right to safety, recognize potentially dangerous situations, and confidently express their concerns. During this workshop, our guest speakers with Family & Youth Counseling Agency will share information about understanding Personal Safety, communication strategies, empowerment through education, building trust, and available resources and support.
